

Catherine McNeil's BIO

As an IO Psychologist and Lean Six Sigma Green Belt, Catherine McNeil BBA MA aka #ASCCatherine on Social Media, is the Principal Consultant of CHBM Services LLC, a holistic career, employee and workforce development consultancy, and the Executive Director of Disruptive INC!

Under Catherine's leadership, CHBM Services is the primary for profit funder and partner of Disruptive INC; Disruptive INC reduces poverty among single parents between the ages of 18-40 by providing support via career development and related resources:

- we provide resources to single parents as they enter, re-enter (or their children transition into) college, university, or trade school.
- we provide career development resources to single parents as they enter, re-enter into, or transition out of the workplace.
- we provide wrap around assistance for single parents that help them transition into gainful employment.

To date, this organizational partnership has hosted over 20 events, touched over 3,000 households, and raised over $50,000 in corporate, financial, and individual support.

Catherine McNeil is nothing short of a phenom. This Author | Speaker | Coach became a parent at the age of 20, causing her to drop out of Penn State University prior to entering her sophomore year. She leveraged her unique educational and occupational journeys to help find her purpose and support her now, three children. Occupationally she's worked across a variant of customer service-oriented industries ranging from real estate, transportation and most recently, as a Talent Development Consultant for one of the largest utilities in the country.

Catherine has authored six published parenting related literary works (available on Amazon) and is the former host of the "Let's Chat!" w/ASKCat Radio Show. She's been featured in variant publications and as a guest across both local and international airwaves. Her most recent features are replaying on her own podcast streaming across Google Podcast, iTunes, and Spotify. Catherine's also the brains behind CHBM Services University; CHBM Services U features both free community facing workshop replays and specific career development coursework for those entering, re-entering and navigating the workplace.
